Noah was one of the earliest advertisers. He advertised that he would sail on a certain date. Those who did not believe in advertising failed to get tickets, and were left in the wet during a forty days' rain, without umbrellas or bathing suits. As most of them could not swim, it is thought they took to the woods.—Brookville Democrat.

The Spirit is anxious to get a share of your job work. Persons who are continually getting free notices and other favors of the newspapers thoughtlessly give their job work to runners, and thus get the work done away from here by persons who do not give good material and have no claims upon the patron for his work at all.—Clearfield Spirit. There are others.

James G. Pentz, of this place, who is a student in the Allegheny College at Meadville, has been elected president of the Athletic Association of the above college. This association is the largest in the college and to be president of the same means college laurels, therefore, James has reason to feel honored in being elected to the presidency of the Association.

A professional man of Reynoldsville spit tobacco juice on the sidewalk while talking to several gentlemen on Main street one day last week and then said: "There, I am a hog." Just then a woman passed by whose dress was long enough to sweep the sidewalk, and the professional man said: "I am no more of a hog than the person who wears a dress long enough to sweep up the tobacco juice and other filth."

Correction. In our report of the foot ball game that was played at DuBois last week we should have said that the referee, not umpire, robbed the "Indians." This information we received from manager of the foot ball team. The editor of the morning sheet published in DuBois made a laborious attempt in the Saturday morning edition to vilify THE STAR, but the puny little fellow has long since lost his prestige and such attacks remind one of the contemptible little curs that bark at the heels of passersby.

No County Bridge. At the last term of court the matter of the county building a bridge over the cut near silk mill at this place was presented to the grand jury and that body's decision was that the county would not build the bridge. The case was heard at argument court and Judge Reed refused to strike off the finding of the grand jury. Winslow township will have to build the bridge or hold it over until next year and present the matter before another grand jury. The bridge is needed and the county should build it.

The church will be decorated with flowers. There will be a reception committee in the vestibule of church and each old person will be given a buttonhole bouquet. It is the intention of the young people to make this a pleasant occasion for the old folks. If it is a stormy day the special service for old folks will be postponed until the following Sunday.

Keystone Hardware Company.

It was stated in THE STAR several weeks ago that the Hall, Barton & Co. hardware store was to change hands and that the new proprietors would be James K. Johnston, M. E. Weed, of this place, and F. E. Dixon, of Falls Creek. The change was made last Friday and what was formerly known as Hall, Barton & Co. store has been named Keystone Hardware Co. The old firm was very successful in business and the new firm anticipate the continued patronage of the old firm's customers and hope to gain new customers. James K. Johnston, who is an experienced hardware man, will be at the helm. The new firm has secured the service of Samuel E. Barton, of the old firm, who is a first-class plumber and tinner. Messrs. Johnston and Weed, who will conduct the business of the Keystone Hardware Co., are so well and favorably known in Reynoldsville and vicinity that comment is not necessary. Mr. Dixon, the other partner, is ticket agent for P. R. R. at Falls Creek and he will not take an active part in the business.

C. R. Hall and S. E. Barton, who came from Brookville to this place about two years ago and embarked in the hardware business, have won for themselves many friends in this vicinity who are glad to learn that they do not intend moving away from town. Dr. W. B. Alexander, the banker, was a member of the retiring firm.

Mrs. James Cooper Dead.

Ninian Cooper, of this place, was called to Beechwoods last week to attend the funeral of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Isabella Cooper, who died Wednesday afternoon and was buried Friday. Funeral services were held at the residence, conducted by Rev. George Hill, pastor of the Beechwoods Presbyterian church, of which the deceased had been a consistent and faithful member fifty-four years. The funeral was a very large one.

Isabella Patton was born in County Donegal, Ireland, October 17th, 1819. In 1831 Isabella, with her parents, Robert and Sarah Patton, came to America and located in Philadelphia. In 1843 they moved to Beechwoods and it was here that the deceased met James Cooper, a prosperous young farmer, to whom she was married on October 23rd, 1845, and lived on the homestead ever afterwards. To Mr. and Mrs. James Cooper were born eight children, seven of whom survive their mother. They are: William, who resides near the homestead, Robert and Samuel, of Onida, Kansas, John, of Lemars, Iowa, James S., of Brockwayville, Martha Jane and Elmer W., who still remain at home. Hugh died April 24, 1874.

The important events in Mrs. Cooper's life occurred in October. She was born in October, was married in October, united with the church in October and died in October. The Brockwayville Record says: "Mrs. Cooper was a woman of true christian character and bore the highest esteem of all who knew her. For many years she has been a member of the Beechwoods Presbyterian church and theirs was a christian and happy household. Mrs. Cooper was a loving wife and mother and a neighbor whom everybody loved and respected. Her's was a life well spent and she died as she had lived, worthy of her reward."

Lude and Evans Proprietors. The invoice was completed yesterday and the Dunn hardware store passed into the hands of new proprietors, L. G. Liddle of Rathmel, and Thomas E. Evans, of this place. Neither one of these gentlemen have had any experience in the hardware business, but they are both capable of soon learning and it will not be long until they will have a thorough understanding of it. However, Mr. Liddle will have charge of the store and Mr. Evans, who is a contractor, will continue that line of work. The new proprietors have many friends and they will, no doubt, have a large trade. Mr. Liddle will move his family from Rathmel to the rooms over the hardware store as soon as Mr. Dunn moves out.

A. E. Dunn, the retiring proprietor, has not decided yet what he will do, whether he will remain in Reynoldsville or move to some other place is to be determined hereafter. Mr. Dunn is an honorable and upright citizen whom we would be sorry to see move away from our town.
